

AI-ENABLED PRODUCT AND SERVICE TERMS

In addition to the Master Services Agreement available at <http://legal.newfold.com>, the following terms also apply if you utilize any AI-enabled product or service (collectively, the “AI Services”) offered by Web.com (collectively, the "Agreement"):

1. You agree not to input any private sensitive information into the AI Services. Examples of private sensitive information may include, without limitation, detailed identification information, bank account numbers, medical records, and financial records.
2. You may only enter content that complies with our Acceptable Use Policy. Web.com’s AI Services may automatically reject certain content that could be inappropriate in nature.
3. Web.com reserves the right to limit access to the AI Services in our sole discretion.
4. Web.com does not guarantee the quality and accuracy of any customer content generated by the AI Services (collectively, “AI Output”). Customer should proofread and confirm all AI Output is accurate and correct. Web.com is not responsible for any errors in the AI Output.
5. Web.com does not own AI Output. Web.com’s AI Services may produce similar content based on content created by other customers. Therefore, your rights in the AI Content may not be enforceable against other customers.

Last Modified: May, 2023